What? Learn about the plan to build a light rail Metro line connecting Bethesda, Silver Spring, College Park, and New Carrollton.

Special meeting for high school students to learn more about the Purple Line plan. It's a chance to find out more about the system, as well as make it known that you are willing to help move the new light rail Metro line forward. The program includes:

- A presentation from the Maryland Transit Administration, including maps of where the Purple Line will go and pictures of what it will look like.

- A talk from the Action Committee for Transit about what needs to be done to make sure the Purple Line gets built, and how students can help.

- Caucus with other students from your school and talk about what you can do.

Ben Moskowitz, elected student member of the Board of Education, will preside.

We were heard when the county tried to abolish free rides for students on Ride-On. Now it's time for students to speak out on the Purple Line. Come, learn, and show your support for the Purple Line!
